pinus CHECK ALFALFA PEST

Investigation by Experts Develop Fact That Meadow Lark Devours Many Harmful Insects.

(By E. R. KALMBACH.)
The western meadow lark is a familiar bird of the Great Basin, and judging from early records is becoming more numerous in this section as time goes on. Being a resident the year around, it is a common visitor to alfalfa fields as soon as snow leaves. During a series of careful tests 27 of these birds were collected in April, and the weevil, which was found to comprise one-sixth of their food, was present in all but seven. One bird had taken 75 adults, another 60, and three others 51, 48 and 33 respectively. Other animal food is important, as the largest single item was caterpillars, amounting to nearly 22 per cent. Ground beetles amounted to about one-eighth of the food.

Examinations show that, at least from April to July, this bird is not a menace to grain, in the districts where the experiments were made. On the other hand, its being a resident the year round makes it a valuable asset as a destroyer of hibernating insects, especially the alfalfa weevil. Without doubt, the meadow lark should receive the fullest protection.

The Difficult Time.
Human nature remaining about the same in wartime as in peace, it is still a great deal more difficult for any man to foresee an early end of hostilities when he has just eaten a dinner that didn't agree with him.—Milwaukee Journal.

Doesn't Talk in Its Sleep.
"My boy," said the successful merchant, "never let your capital lie idle. Remember that money talks, but it doesn't talk in its sleep."

Mrs. John Drew Better.

McLeansboro, Ill.—"About five years ago," says Mrs. John L. Drew, of this place, "I was afflicted with pains and irregularity every month. I suffered continually, was weak and despondent, and unable to do my housework. I took Cardui, and in one month, I felt like a new woman and worked hard all summer. I am now in perfect health, and recommend Cardui to all suffering women." Every day, during the past 50 years, Cardui has been steadily forging ahead as a result of its proven value in female troubles. It relieves head ache, backache, woman's misery and puts fresh strength into weary bodies. Try it.—Advertisement.
